

LASGO

Lasgo are an internationally known dance group led by singer Jelle van Dael, with renowned producer Peter Luts creatively directing the band.

Originally formed in 2000, the Belgian dance group soared their way through charts accross their homecountry and throughout Europe, driving arenas wild and attending countless TV/radio shows. After instant international success with hit their single 'Something', Lasgo shot to the top and became nothing less than great with now several chart toppers under the belt.

The group sold more than five million copies of their albums Some Things, Far Away and Smile, and after racking up 2 WMC Awards, a TMF Award, a Smash Hits Award (UK) and a BMI Award (USA), the group performed all over Europe, as well as the US, Brazil, Canada, Australia and Asia with fully-booked summers running for years.

Singer Jelle van Dael is experiencing a lifetime of stardom at such a young age, and is currently a resident VJ/TV presenter at Belgium's most popular music TV station, JIM.

With a catalogue of history and a worldwide fan-base, Lasgo are still consistently releasing 19 years after the bands formation.
